6. Future Use and Infrastructure Vision

PIF is designed for volunteers and real-world redemption today, but in the future, it may power local offline networks where phones act as digital beacons. This could allow PIF to become a true coin-a-currency for service-based micro-economies in disaster and rural settings.

7. Legal Notice

PIF is a utility token and not a security or investment contract. While future infrastructure may increase its value, no returns are promised. Tokens are earned, not bought for speculation. Bitcoin and gold reserves, when used, are for stabilization-not guarantees.
